Body Positioning Swimwear

At Speedo we understand how important creating the optimum body position in the water is and how that position can deliver an improved swim. That is why we have developed our most advanced body positioning swimwear range yet.

We have worked with the world's leading athletes, coaches, sports scientists and physiotherapists to help us understand the art of swimming and enable us to understand how our swimwear can help you perfect your body position.

- A good swim technique is essential to help you get the most from your swim and this is helped by having a good body position
- Keeping your body horizontal in the water minimizes drag and energy - your core helps you maintain the correct position
- The better your body position, the more stable you will be and more able to propel yourself through the water faster
- By engaging your core muscles and keeping them tight, you can help lock your body in the right position. This makes it easier to maintain a horizontal and more efficient swim position for longer

All-over Body Shaping

Our exclusive lightweight fabric has been swim tested internationally. 85% of women agreed it provided shaping without compromising on comfort and 90% that it gave them a smoother silhouette.*

* International swim test with 48 women

Visual Shaping

This is what helps to make Speedo Sculpture styles so flattering. Each style has its own unique visual detailing such as colour signposting, contrasting panels, specific necklines and under bust seaming.

Single Layer Fabric

Unlike most other shaping swimwear, there are no multiple layers of fabric that can become heavy and sag as they soak up water. The Speedo Sculpture fabric has enough technology in a single layer, to provide a smoother silhouette without compromising on comfort.

Chlorine Resistance

Made using Xtra Life LYCRA fibre which lasts up to 10 times longer than traditional fabrics.

We have worked with the world's leading athletes, coaches, sports scientists and physiotherapists to help us understand the art of swimming and enable us to understand how our swimwear can help you perfect your body position.

- A good swim technique is essential to help you get the most from your swim and this is helped by having a good body position
- Keeping your body horizontal in the water minimizes drag and energy - your core helps you maintain the correct position
- The better your body position, the more stable you will be and more able to propel yourself through the water faster
- By engaging your core muscles and keeping them tight, you can help lock your body in the right position. This makes it easier to maintain a horizontal and more efficient swim position for longer
